

Cole Stathes

Bio

He has worked in procurement and administration at the NIH for 25 years. In the 1980's he was a direct purchasing agent for the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases. Since 1988 he has been with the Division of Acquisition Programs, Office of the Director. He is currently the BPA Program Coordinator for the NIH, the senior official for NIH's Blanket Purchase Agreements. His office administers current BPAs and conducts interviews and price negotiations with potential BPA vendors.